ICOMIS NEW ZEALAND

There is a growing concern internationally over the need to recognise and conserve significant cultural landscapes. One initiative was the Cultural Landscapes Colloquium sponsored by the International Council on Monuments and Sites held in Montreal last May and the decision from the meeting to develop a broad network of national cultural landscape committees.

The first Australasian issue of the ICOMOS Landscape Working Group Newsletter has just been published which includes a paper on Archaeological Landscape Conservation in New Zealand by Aiden Challis as well as papers on the Auckland Garden History Society, the Auckland Domain Plan, Tongariro National Park, Canterbury landscapes, and papers relating to Australian cultural and historic landscapes.

The authors of the New Zealand content are now actively seeking contributions on paper towards a new venture - a local Cultural Landscape Newsletter, possibly produced jointly with Australia. They would welcome donations of $15 to cover postage and photocopying from anyone - not necessarily ICOMOS members - who would like to be on the mailing list. Please post to : John Adam, 9 Freya Place, Torbay, Auckland 1310.

Several other proposals are also being considered such as the setting up of the joint Australian and New Zealand Network in an electronic form using E-Mail, and a global electronic Newsletter as a Bulletin Board to be based in New Zealand. There will be more details in the first issue of the Cultural Landscape Newsletter.

3RD WOMEN IN ARCHAEOLOGY CONFERENCE, SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA, 3-5 Feb, 1995

REDEFINING ARCHAEOLOGY: FEMINIST PERSPECTIVES

Most of the conference sessions address general themes, and the organisers are keen to receive contributions to each session from different areas of archaeology ; prehistoric and historic; Australian, Pacific and Asian; classical, middle eastern and American; cultural heritage conservation, museum interpretation and education. The aim is to provide one platform for all women in all areas of archaeology, to encourage inter-disiplinary communication and comparison.

Session 1: Feminism and the politics of archaeological discourse.

Session 2: Feminism and archaeological theory.

Session 3: Feminism in the field: putting theory into practice.

Session 4: Death becomes her.

Session 5: In her own image? archaeology and the goddess.

Session 6: Pictures from the past: Art, representation or social construct

Session 7: A sharper image: refocussing pictures of the past and of the archaeological profession

Session 8: Strategies for change in the workplace

Session 9: Women archaeologists: auto/biography
